Day 2 - 18.11.2022

09:00 Departure from hotel Lovec

We will visit Pokljuka Plateau, a forested karst plateau at an elevation of around 1,100 to 1,400 metres located in the Julian Alps in northwestern Slovenia.

The plateau is known for its forests, mountain pastures, and winter sports facilities. It is also a common starting point for mountain hikers. The forested plateau is one of the most gorgeous areas of the Triglav National Park.

Forester at the Slovenian Forest Service will introduce close-to-nature forest management in predominantly spruce forests. We will walk through Peat Bog to learn more about the facts and importance of peat bogs that belong among the most precious natural areas in Europe.

15:00 Arrival back to hotel Lovec

As it is almost winter and cold temperatures can be expected, please wear warm clothing and appropriate footwear.

"Good practices and feasible ideas for more women in forestry exist. They need to be mainstreamed and implemented."
